

Dear _____,

I've been giving it a thought for a while, and I have to say that we really need a beach vacation. Some fun away from home, where we can disconnect and enjoy some quality time. I've been looking for the best resorts in México, and I have to say, I found the perfect one for the both of us.

First, we need to take a vacation because summer is almost over, and we have to prepare for the cold days ahead, so why not catch some tanning sessions on the beach? We can also enjoy some time at the Spa, relaxing by the pool with a refreshing drink, and enjoy some walks on the beach at sunset.

Another reason why we should go on vacation is that we need to try new things. I've heard that El Cid Resorts has incredible food options and refreshing drinks, and guess what?! It's an all-inclusive resort so we don't have to worry about cooking or grocery shopping.

Finally but not least, it is important to take a break once in a while. Being in a daily routine can be overwhelming and we can miss out on each other, so what better way than connecting in a beautiful setting? We love the beach, why not go there and make some wonderful memories?

In conclusion, please let's go on vacation. We will have a wonderful time!

With love,
